In the span of the last 40 years South Florida has become home to the largest proportion of Haitians living in the United States. Avanse Ansanm is a movement for young Haitian Americans, ages 21-40, to connect to each other and to the South Florida Haitian community in meaningful ways for a vibrant and more engaged Haitian Community.

The Haitian American Millennials Summit 2019 entitled Kiyès ou ye: Culture, Community, and Connections is designed to promote personal, cultural, and professional growth among Haitian-American Millennials. Gen Xers and Gen Zers are invited to participate as well. At the summit, Haitian-Americans will be able to network professionally, culturally and socially and share their experiences in the hopes of contributing positively to the growth and progress of the Haitian Community. It will touch on many timely issues including identity, wealth generation, and political power. People from other cultural backgrounds and ethnicities that are interested in learning more about the Haitian culture are welcome to attend.
